

STORY TIME

Legacy West Telephone Pioneers gives books to readers

BY ELIZABETH HOAG
STAFF WRITER

FOLEY—Families were welcomed to a children's book reading at the Foley branch of the Great River Regional Library Dec. 7. Library assistant Shelly Kuelbs read five books to children and helped them with craft time following the readings. The Legacy West Telephone Pioneer members, who are all volunteers, were present to hand out bags filled with items including two books, "A Hole in the Wall" and "Petites Great Feats".

PHOTOS BY ELIZABETH HOAG
Legacy West Telephone Pioneers members Carol Barthel (front, from left) and Barb Hemer; (back, from left) Kathy Hanson, Callie Niemann and Becker Friends of the Library members Gloria Broecker, Debbie Lechner, Al Barthel and Dave Hemmer stand in the public library Dec. 7 in Foley. The Legacy West Telephone Pioneers gave away bags filled with two books and toy bells.

Library assistant Shelly Kuelbs reads a book Dec. 7 in Foley. Kuelbs read five books to children.

Hadlee (left) and Bennett sit on their mother, Sabrina Nordstrom's, lap Dec. 7 in Foley. After story time, the children

Callie Niemann (left) hands Vivian Hull a bag containing two books as Lori Schafer watches Hull at the Great River Regional Library Dec. 7 in Foley. Children attended a book reading and craft session at the library.

Vivian Hull (from left), Lori Schafer, Caleb Zierden and Rachel Zierden listen during story time Dec. 7 at the Great River Regional Library in Foley. Library assistant Shelly Kuelbs read five books to the crowd.